La Salle College

LA SALLE COLLEGE is conducted by the Brothers of the Christian Schools, a body of men devoted exclusively to the cause of Catholic education. Their aim is to educate under the most approved modern methods in an environment which insures the safeguards of religion. A century before Pestalozzi, Lancaster and other well-known reformers of educational methods appeared, St. John Baptist de la Salle had given to the world a completely well-rounded system of education.

Recognizing the paucity of results accruing from the educational methods in use prior to his day, the wise founder substituted the study of the vernacular and other modern languages for the ancient classics which until then had been the basis even of primary education. Following his inspiration, his disciples have developed these principles to such perfection that their institutions have been successful in all parts of the civilized world.

Christian educators, it is their great aim, not merely to broaden the intellect, but chiefly to cultivate the heart and to mould the Christian gentleman: to educate the moral, the intellectual and the physical faculties of the student so as to secure their harmonious development.

HISTORY

In 1863, the late Most Rev. James Frederick Wood, D.D., then Bishop of Philadelphia, in conjunction with a committee consisting of Christian Brothers, Reverend Clergy and laymen, obtained from the State of Pennsylvania a charter incorporating La Salle College in Philadelphia.*

Their aim was to supply within the limits of Philadelphia the want of a College for higher Catholic education.

The nucleus of La Salle College had already been formed in September, 1862, as the Christian Brothers' Academy attached to St. Michael's Parochial School, at 1419 North Second Street. When the number of students became too large for the accommodations afforded by the building on Second Street, the property at the northeast corner of Filbert and Juniper Streets was purchased in 1867, and the classes continued there until June, 1886.

Owing to the constant increase in the number of pupils, the College was forced to seek for a more commodious site. The Bouvier Mansion on Broad Street, above Girard Avenue, was acquired in December, 1882. In the following September the Academic and Preparatory Departments of the College were transferred thither, and on the completion of the school buildings† the Collegiate and Commercial Departments were removed to their present location.

*An act to incorporate La Salle College in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., approved March 20, 1863.

†The bequest of the late Mr. Francis A. Drexel enabled the College authorities to erect commodious buildings adjoining the Bouvier Mansion.

Location

The location of La Salle College, on Broad Street, above Girard Avenue, is unsurpassed in Philadelphia. Sufficiently remote from the high roads of business, it is at the same time easy of access from any part of the city and the suburbs. The school buildings have been constructed on modern lines and are commodious, well lighted, heated and ventilated. The class-rooms are thoroughly equipped with all the necessary appliances.

Divisions of the Year

The scholastic year is divided into four terms or quarters. The first quarter begins on the second Monday of September; the second, on the third Monday of November; the third, on the first Monday of February; and the fourth on the third Monday of April.

College Rules

All students should be present at 8.45, A. M.

No student is allowed to leave the College grounds during the noon recess without permission from the College authorities.

No interruption is permitted in class studies except for grave reasons.

No one may leave the class before 2.30 P. M. without presenting a valid excuse in writing from his parent or guardian. This permission is given by the President on the approval of the teacher in charge of the class.

Lessons omitted on account of absence are regarded as failures unless made up outside of school hours.

No student is allowed to drop any subject obligatory in the course he is pursuing.

Absence from an examination, unless excused by the Faculty, is considered a failure.

The President of the College reserves the right to refuse all privileges, such as leaves of absence, to students whose class records are not up to the required standard.

The President of the College reserves the right to determine all questions relating to athletics. Membership in the athletic associations, as well as admission into the gymnasium or the play grounds after class hours, is conditioned on a satisfactory standing in class studies.

All injury to the property of the College must be repaired at the expense of the student who caused such damage.

As the College is intended to educate only respectable youths of good behavior, no student is retained who persists in being insubordinate, or who is known to indulge in vicious habits.

Examinations

Written examinations are made at the end of each quarter. No student who falls below the general average of 70 per cent. in his studies is eligible for promotion.

In the Preparatory Classes examinations are more frequent, and no student is allowed to pass from one subject to another until he has given evidence of an adequate knowledge of the subject-matter he has gone over.

Reports

A quarterly bulletin, based on the written examinations, signed by the President of the College, is sent home at the expiration of each quarter. From this bulletin, parents may learn what progress their children are making and whether they devote a sufficient time at home to the preparation of their class work.

Percentages are appreciated as follows: From 100 to 90, excellent; from 90 to 80, very good; from 80 to 70, satisfactory. Any percentage below 70 is considered deficient.

Testimonials

Testimonials of merit are given each week: those of the first grade, called "Perfect," to students whose general average is 80 per cent. or over; and those of the second grade, called "Satisfactory," to those whose average in the recitations of the week is between 70 and 80 per cent.

As these testimonials are an unfailing source of emulation, it is earnestly requested that parents and guardians see that they be presented to them each Monday afternoon.

Attendance

Parents and guardians are respectfully reminded that regular attendance and strict punctuality are absolutely necessary to insure success. Whenever detained, through sickness or other adequate reason, the student is required to acquaint the President by a timely note of excuse.

The school hours are from 8.45 A. M. till 2.30 P. M. A half hour is set apart at noon for luncheon.

Home Studies

Great industry is required for success in life. The student's individual efforts count for much more than the zeal, earnestness and enthusiasm of the teacher in the formation of those habits which make the successful man.

No time is allowed for the preparation of lessons during the school-day session. Parents should see that the assigned class lessons are prepared at home.

In order to attain proficiency in the branches taught in the College, the student should devote at least two hours every evening to the earnest preparation of his home studies. In the collegiate classes much more time is required for this preparation. Parents and guardians are requested to communicate with the President whenever this preparation is neglected.

Medals and Prizes

Gold medals are offered in the Collegiate and Commercial Courses for English Essay, Oratory, Evidences of Religion, Physics and Chemistry, Mechanical Drawing and Mathematics, and in the Academic Department for Elocution and Penmanship.

No medal is awarded when the average of the highest competitor falls below 80 per cent.

Medals and special prizes are awarded at the Annual Commencement.

Class awards, based on the Weekly Testimonials for class work, are distributed on the eve of Commencement Day.

Degrees

In 1863, the College was incorporated as La Salle College in the City of Philadelphia, and empowered to confer the degrees of A. B., Sc. B., A. M., and such other degrees as are conferred by other colleges of the State.

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred upon students who have made the regular College course, and have attained a minimum average of 70 per cent. in the examinations and the daily recitations in the studies of the Senior Year.

The Degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred upon students who successfully complete the course in Chemistry and Electricity, or the course in Civil Engineering.

A diploma is granted to students who satisfactorily complete the Commercial Course as a guarantee of their fitness for mercantile employment.

The Degree of Master of Arts is conferred upon those graduates who have matriculated in one of the learned professions, or have pursued a Post-graduate Course at the College, or given evidence of proficiency in some branch of letters or science, provided they have borne a good moral character in the interval. They will also be expected to write on a given subject, a thesis which may be made the Master's Oration at the Commencement.

Honorary degrees are conferred at the discretion of the Faculty.

Theses

Every candidate for a degree is required to present a written thesis on a subject connected with his course. The subject selected will be announced on or before February 1st. Such help and guidance may be afforded the candidate as the Professor may judge right, and the completed thesis shall be handed in for approval on or before May 9th.

No thesis may contain less than two thousand words, unless the reasons adduced are satisfactory. Theses must be typewritten. All approved theses become the property of the College and are placed in charge of the Librarian.

If a student fail to present his thesis, or if the thesis be rejected, he shall not be recommended for his degree.

The Students' Library and Reading Rooms

A select library of standard authors and periodicals is set apart for the use of the students. The reading room is open at stated times to enable them to consult authorities in the preparation of their theses, or to become acquainted with representative authors.

General Prospectus of Studies

The course of studies at La Salle College is comprehensive and logically graded.

The College offers three departments of study that are a necessary preparation for various avocations in life.

I. The Course in Arts which leads through modern languages to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

II. (a) The Course in Chemistry and Electricity; (b) the Course in Civil Engineering; both of which lead to the Degree of Bachelor of Science.

III. The Course in Commerce supplies the wants of young men who intend to engage in mercantile pursuits. All the subjects considered necessary for a comprehensive modern business training are included in its curriculum. To these are added a course in Chemistry as applied to the industries and manufactures and a course in General Mathematics and Physics.

Academic Department

Besides the College proper, there is an Academic Department, whose course requires four years and prepares the student for the Freshman class. The grade of work is that of the ordinary High School, and requires a well-grounded Grammar School course. From this department the student may enter the Collegiate Course or take up the Course in Commerce.

Preparatory Department

In the Preparatory Department are combined, together with the branches usually taught in the best grade of Grammar Schools, all the advantages of the Select School. It prepares for the Academic Department.

Christian Doctrine

Christian doctrine is daily taught in all the Collegiate, Commercial, Academic and Preparatory classes. The course in Religious Instruction is as carefully graded as are the other branches of knowledge.

It is chiefly on moral influences and kindly advice that the College authorities rely to secure propriety of behavior and diligence in study.

Special attention is given that students intending to receive the Sacrament of Confirmation and their first Holy Communion acquire the necessary instruction and prepare worthily for the reception of these Sacraments.

Philosophy

As the ultimate end of the study of Logic is to train the mind to exactness of Thought, the first part of the Junior Year is devoted to this branch of the subject. The history and origin of Speculative Thought, together with the laws by which it is governed, are thoroughly investigated, thus preparing the student to take up, in the latter portion of the year, the study of Mental Philosophy.

The Senior Year is devoted to the study of Ethics and Psychology. The student is trained to apply the formulæ and the methods of right reasoning to the mooted questions of the day, to correlate the results of approved investigations and researches and to coordinate them with their basic principles.

Study of English

Since the vernacular language and its literature constitute the essential features of a sound education they receive special attention. No effort is spared to make the student proficient in speaking and writing the English language.

Science

The great importance of scientific subjects in a system of instruction which aims at being in accordance with the trend of modern ideas has been carefully kept in view. By them are developed those habits of observation and exactness of reasoning which literary studies alone cannot impart.

Oratorical Contests

These contests, which are an important feature of the school year, do much to develop in the student literary and elocutionary taste. Besides the private contests at the end of each quarter, public contests are held by the Senior and Junior Divisions respectively. The Archbishop Ryan Gold Medal is open to the students of the Collegiate and Commercial Departments. This contest is held towards the end of April, and the three pupils obtaining the highest averages compete again on Commencement Day.

Gold Medals for Elocution are given in the Academic and Preparatory Departments.

Physical Culture

Aware of the importance of physical training, and the part it plays in the harmonious development of the entire man, the Faculty spare no pains to secure for the student all the benefits to be derived from approved modes of exercise. A graded course of Gymnastic exercises is pursued throughout the year under the direction of a distinguished Professor of physical culture. The students have a regularly organized Athletic Association which encourages approved athletic sport of every description.
